CHARLEROI TAILOR VICTIM OF BULLET

Louis Colosima In the Local Hospital, Wounded, a Sufferer From Wife's Jealousy—Maybe Not Serious—Woman Arrested

THE SHOOTING LAST NIGHT

Witnessed By Boys—Husband Says That Mrs. Colosima Is Jealous of Him, Account of His Attentions to Other Women

Louis Colosima, 24 years old, an Italian, a tailor, in the employ of the Weiner Tailoring establishment in Fifth street, between Fallowfield and Washington avenue, is in the Charleroi-Monessen hospital with a bullet wound in his knee, inflicted, it is alleged, by his bride, Charline Colosima who is said to have shot her husband in jealous rage. The woman is alleged to have secreted herself behind a telephone pole on the corner of Fourth street and Washington avenue, and the shooting was done at 8:15 o'clock last night.

According to the verdict of Colosima, Mrs. Colosima was jealous because of his attentions to other women, while Mrs. Colosima states that earlier in the evening her husband brutally struck her. The revolver with which the woman shot Colosima was hidden in the folds of her coat. It is said that Mrs. Colosima waited for him in the shadow of a telephone pole, and as he passed, fired the bullet which lodged in the cap of his knee.

Mrs. Colosima was married before she wedded the local tailor, her marriage to Colosima taking place in Pittsburgh on February 6, 1924. The couple make their home at 1244 Prospect avenue.

Chief of Police James A. Murphy, Officers Gelder and Peters, summoned by four boys who saw the affray, arrested Mrs. Colosima and she is lodged in the police station. Colosima was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Colosima will have a preliminary hearing before Squire John B. Smith Tuesday evening on a charge of felonious shooting with intent to kill.

OHIO TEAM LOSES ITS FIRST CONTEST

WILBUR METCALF IS THE WINNER

Bruce K. Barnett, Lester Beazell and Wilbur Metcalf of the Charleroi Lumber Company, were in Pittsburgh last week attending the seventeenth annual convention and reunion of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, which was held at the William Penn Hotel, February 27-28-29. Representatives from all parts of Western Pennsylvania were present and the meeting was an interesting and instructive one.

An estimating contest was held, in connection with the meeting, in which thirty men, from different parts of Pennsylvania competed for the honors and which was won by Wilbur Metcalf of Charleroi.

Call Extended And Accepted By Rev. Long

The congregation of the First Christian church of Charleroi has extended a call to Rev. W. M. Long, of the Hazelwood Church, Pittsburgh, to become its minister as successor to Rev. Dr. F. C. Lake, who recently resigned. The call has been accepted.

work of the local church about the first of May.
Rev. Long was educated at Bethany College, West Virginia, where he graduated as an A. B. in 1900, and as A. M. in 1902. He also received his theological training in that school. He was minister at Clarkburg, West Virginia for ten years and has been six and one-half years in Pittsburgh. His family consists of his wife and three daughters, the youngest of whom is a senior in a Pittsburgh High school.

The official board of local church feel that Mr. Long's training, experience, and temperament will well fit him to carry on the work of the Charleroi church, and to make him a valuable asset to the religious life of our borough.

OHIO TEAM LOSES ITS FIRST CONTEST

Local basketball enthusiasts witnessed on Saturday night the most exciting and speedy girls' game played in Charleroi for many years. The hitherto undefeated Steubenville team went down to defeat before our players in a game of 21-16. At the beginning of the season we were defeated at Steubenville, and they came here Saturday, confident of an easy victory. Our girls have developed wonderfully in skill, teamwork, and capability since they played last night's opponents on their own floor, and were a little more than a match for them. The game was a very fast one for the Ohio team is dexterous and competent, and in no part of the game did our play drag. The teams were very evenly balanced, our girls excelling by sheer ability.

The entire team played very well, and Charleroi may feel confident that it holds a championship team. There is one more game on the schedule, Canonsburg, whose team the locals defeated 69-15 early in the season. Phillips displayed her usual dexterity in making baskets, shooting six field goals and two overhead goals. She was closely guarded and had to do clever playing to make as many baskets as she did. She made six out of fifteen foul goals. She was very ably supported by Sonkoly in the first half and Allen in the second. Allsopp and Woodward, the center and side-center, proved their right to belong on a championship team by skillful and efficient work the entire game. Wilson and Cratty were more than a match for the visitors' two star forwards, Anderson and Dunn, whom they prevented from making many goals. Charleroi High school is rightfully proud of its girls' team.

On Tuesday, March 4, at eight o'clock, the locals play Canonsburg. Although our girls defeated that team with a large score, it is expected that tomorrow night's will be a much closer game. The lineup: Charleroi—21 Steubenville—15 Phillips.....F.....Anderson Sonkoly.....F.....Dunn Allsopp.....C.....Raney Woodward.....SC.....Taylor Cratty.....G.....York Wilson.....G.....McLeish Field goals—Charleroi: Phillips, 6; 2 overheads. Steubenville: Anderson, 3; Dunn 2.

Foul goals—Charleroi: Phillips, 7 out of 15. Steubenville: Anderson, 5 out of 10.

Substitutes—Allen for Sonkoly, L. McLeish for York, York for Raney. Referee—Dannell.

A Bureau To Bring To Public 'Publicity'

New York, March 3. — (United Press).—Announcement of formation of a "Citizens' Federal Research Bureau" to bring a "pitiless publicity" to bear on corruption in the federal government may be expected in the near future. Frank A. Vanderlip indicated.

Commenting on his speech on "corruption in National leadership," here yesterday, in which he charged that the newspapers are not printing all the facts obtainable about official corruption in connection with the investigation of naval oil leases in Washington, Vanderlip indicated formation of his proposed citizens' committee in Washington has already been started.

At the same time, E. L. Doheny, whose oil companies hold two government leases in California, was defending the attitude of big business toward the government just as vehemently as Vanderlip was attacking it.

Doheny, in a general interview, said W. G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, tried to put him in a false position, and ended by being placed in a false position himself.

Vanderlip, with intense conviction, said he felt he had accepted the moral leadership of a crusade to bring full publicity to bear on the government by his speeches, the first of which resulted in his being called before the Senate investigation committee to explain reports of rumors he repeated in connection with the sale of the Marion Star, the late President Harding's newspaper.

Doheny, with equal conviction, said he felt there had been nothing dishonorable in connection with his obtaining the oil leases, or employing former government officials, such as McAdoo, to look after his interests.

Vanderlip in his speech urged investigation of the department of justice and full publicity by means of a citizens' committee.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. MCCORMICK

Funeral services for Mrs. Olive H. McCormick, 79 years old, grandmother of Olive Thomas, motion picture star and wife of Jack Pickford, who died in Paris a few years ago, took place yesterday afternoon at her home in 473 Center avenue, Verona. Mrs. McCormick, who up until about 6 years ago resided in Third street, Charleroi, and was familiarly known by everyone as "Granmother," was found dead in bed last Thursday morning, when a relative broke in the door. The deceased was a pioneer resident of Charleroi, coming to this borough when it was nothing more than a vast farm, and was wellknown and esteemed here.

Mrs. McCormick had reared Olive Thomas from the time she was four years old until she entered filmdom at the age of 16 years. Deputy Coroner John Aldisert, investigating the woman's death, learned from neighbors that Mrs. McCormick was reluctant to believe that Olive Thomas was dead and often remarked that the film star some time would come to see her. The aged woman lived as a recluse and was cared for by a niece, who resided a short distance away. The death was submitted to a coroner's jury Saturday and it was found that she died from natural causes.

Rabbi Has Copy Of Bible Printed In Year 1508

Chester, Pa., March 3. — (United Press).—A Bible, believed to be the oldest in private possession in the United States, is owned by Dr. Harry Cohen, the rabbi of the Jewish community of Chester. The Bible is a large folio Schever Bible, published in Venice by Salomon Bomberg in 1518 and is the third of four volumes known as the first Rabbinical Bible.

The first complete edition of the English Bible was the version of Coverdale, printed in 1535, according to Dr. Cohen, who has been specializing on Bible research work. Before this time there had already appeared a number of translations in other languages.

The Latin Vulgate, supposed to have been the first book printed, was issued in 1453. A German version of the Bible appeared as early as 1466 and before 1522 there were no less than 14 printed editions of the Scriptures in High German and three in Low German.

The first Italian Bible was printed in 1471, Dutch in 1477, French in 1478, and Bohemian in 1488, according to Dr. Cohen. Luther's Bible did not appear as a whole until 1534.

TWO ARRESTS MADE IN A ROBBERY

Two arrests have been made in connection with the robbery of the West Monessen passenger station which occurred on one of the nights the first part of last week at which time $35 was taken along with a quantity of other articles belonging to the station agent. A truck and two suit cases were also broken open and articles taken from them, the value of which were not ascertained.

Upon the discovery of the theft investigation followed and suspicion pointed to two railroad men whose train had been in the station at the time of the robbery. Search warrants were secured and the homes of William Rowen, and John W. Ailes, Jr., well known young men of California, were visited. The authorities report a large quantity of loot was found among which were two minigraph machines, said to be missing from the Brownsville station; miners' shoes, gum boots and many other articles. However, the articles that were missing from Lock No. 4 station, were not found. The young men were placed under arrest and are now released under $2000 bail to appear at a hearing Thursday evening before a California justice of the peace.

COMMITTEE IS LOOKING INTO THE AFFAIRS

Washington, March 3. — (United Press).—With Senator Robert M. La Follette, Progressive leader, in the background directing its strategy, the Senate committee named to investigate Attorney General Daugherty's administration of the department of justice met today to plan its inquiry.

Regarding the investigation as a trial of himself, Daugherty, through counsel, has demanded that it be conducted exactly like a court trial, and that he be permitted to subpoena defense witnesses.

Congressional committees never call witnesses in their own defense. The committee may reply to him that the Senate has not authorized the committee to try him, but merely to investigate his whole administration of the department.

In mapping a course of investigation, first place will be given to a reau of investigation, of which William J. Burns is the head.

Next on the program as far as it has been decided upon by the committee will be an inquiry into the complaints of the federal trade commission that the department has not followed up anti-trust cases.

S. S. Cyril And Methodius Church Scene of a Unique Occasion Yesterday—Rev. John J. Cura Is the Celebrant

THE SERVICE IMPRESSIVE

It Being One of Music, Song And Praise — Punctuated By the Presence of a Number of Visiting Priests—The Sermon Is Preached By Rev. Kushner

S. S. Cyril and Methodius church, Tenth street, was the scene of a unique occasion as reflects the customary services of this sanctuary, in that it was the center of attraction for not only the people of this denomination, but, primarily, because that within its sacred walls was heard the first mass of a newly ordained priest, the Rev. John J. Cura, who was ordained into the priesthood at St. John's Pro-Cathedral, Altoona, on Monday, February 25, by the Right Reverend John J. McCort, D. D., Bishop of Altoona. The Rev. Cura is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cura, 301 Tenth street. The mass was said yesterday.

The edifice was crowded to hear the young priest, an attestation of the people of their sympathy with, and encouragement of, one who now formally enters upon the duties of his high calling. The service was one of music, song, and praise, and the visiting priests present assisting were: Arch-Priest John Kerkosha, pastor of St. Union church; Deacon, Rev. William Zorichuk, St. Francis Seminary at Loretto; Sub-Deacon, Rev. Daniel Brega, St. Vonaventure seminary, New York; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Joseph Kovalik, St. Francis Seminary; also the following seminarians: Michael Barrett, assistant master of ceremonies; Gerald Degan and John Sima, Thaurifors; William Schraill and Andrew Kurty, Acholfites. Others present were Rev. Carl Demorest of Charleroi; Rev. George Chagin, of Donora; Rev. Michael Faidel of Fredericktown and Rev. Joseph D. Suraka of Donora.

The services were inaugurated with a procession, as follows: Three alto boys, the cross bearer and acolytes; boys carrying carnations; girls with red roses; girls with carrying wreaths; the bride, Miss Stephanie Kostolansky, carrying wreath of flowers on cushion; altar (Continued on Page Two)

A Monongahela Italian Disemboweled In Fight With Man Over Woman

Last night in the city of Monongahela an Italian was disemboweled in a fight, alleged to have been started over Mrs. Mary Bonelli, a boarding house mistress. The encounter is said to have occurred at 10:45 o'clock. It is alleged that Peter Beardini, probably fatally injured by the method named, one Frank Bruno, also an Italian, aged 25 years, in an attempt to cut his throat with a 12-inch butcher knife which he had taken from the table in the kitchen, where they were fighting.

Bruno is in the Monongahela hospital, and reports are to the effect that his condition is precarious. Beardini is said to have held him by the throat which he hoped to cut, but Bruno's struggles made him slip and instead he disemboweled him. Beardini was arrested, and is in charge of the authorities at Monongahela.

"ART" ABOVE NATURE.

Eugene O'Neill, playwright, is nothing if not startling, and the public can hardly be said to be altogether unprepared for the announcement that he is to have a white woman play opposite a negro in an inter-racial drama which he has written and is now rehearsing. According to the New York dispatch, a young woman whose name has been withheld has agreed, after one leading actress and many near-stars refused, to play opposite a negro leading man in Eugene O'Neill's drama.

"All God's Chillun Got Wings." In the closing scene of this play, it is stated, "the white woman is required to kiss the hand of the negro whose wife she has become." It is further stated that O'Neill's determination to go through with the staging of this play and make it "realistic" has started much talk in theatrical circles. We read: "He first offered the leading female role to one of the best known actresses, and when she refused, consulted many others before finding one he said was willing to hold art above race prejudice. This young woman has asked that her name be kept from the public, at least until the play opens."

Eugene O'Neill, son of James O'Neill, who years ago starred in "Monte Cristo," is best known as the author of "The Hairy Ape," a play which interested jaded dramatic critics and won high praise from some of them because of its revolt against accepted standards, its brutality, the harsh nakedness of its horrors, and its puzzling obscurity of idea which recalled Ibsen without revealing Ibsen's inspiration. That such an imagination as O'Neill's should have reached out further into the repellent and adopted such a theme as he is now developing in stage rehearsals, though startling indeed, is no more than might have been expected.

Whether "all God's chillun got wings" may be open to debate, but it can not be doubted that there would be a scandalized commotion among the winged creatures of the air if a robin were found mating with a dove and producing mongrel offspring in defiance of the law of nature that birds of a feather must flock together. The same law of nature applies in the case of distinct races of men and it is no less imperative by a few violations of it with tragic consequences. In the economy and order of the universe there is some complete and fundamental reason as basis for the fact that several grand divisions of the human race remain distinct, and are not amalgamating into a single mongrel type, in spite of the commercial intercommunion of all peoples and the talk of the "brotherhood of man"—which, it may be incidentally remarked, is good talk in its proper place and right meaning, without the madness of the demand for inter-racial mingling of blood.

Mr. O'Neill is altogether mistaken when he says he at last found an actress "willing to hold art above race prejudice." What he finally found was an actress willing to hold "art" above nature. And Mr. O'Neill is pleased only because he has definitely repudiated the long-accepted canon that true art is the mirror of nature.

They have troubles of their own in England, too. A member of Parliament has just bewailed conditions here as follows: "There has been a steady and distinct lowering of the whole tone of political life. The amount of lying, slander and utter lack of patriotism or real love for the welfare of the people baffles description. Jealous young men and women do really set their minds to insist upon ruth, honesty and patriotism in politics then, I say, heaven help this country!"

Senator Lodge has readily reversed himself more than once and perhaps he will do so again on seeing the following quotation from his letter in February, 1921, to the president of the Indian Rights Association: "In my opinion he is exceptionally fitted to be Secretary of the Interior. Senator Fall is a thoroughly upright, high-minded man, and utterly incapable of using his office for his financial interest, which I have no doubt is implied by some of the expressions of your letter."

Attention by Egyptian Women's League for the abolition of child labor was brought about the passage of a law fixing the minimum age for girls at 16. Somewhat later would not be amiss to fix the minimum age for boys at 18.

is usually reported in this connection. Its laws permit boys of 14 and girls of 12 to marry.

The Anti-Saloon League of New York has at last given its superintendent up for lost and it looks as if Mr. Anderson now has nobody left to call on but his wonderful and benevolent friend, "Mr. King." If "Mr. King" is not a myth and wants to be as useful in the future as he was in the alleged past, he ought to reach his powerful hand into Sing Sing and take Mr. Anderson out.

According to Israel Zangwill, "all America's bad customs have spread to Europe." If that's so, life in Europe can hardly be as infinitely more desirable as Mr. Zangwill has gone about assuring us that it is.

Mary Succeeds
on Main Street

By LAURA MILLER

OUT WHERE THE WHEAT
BEGINS

The secretary-treasurer of a farm loan association in St. Paul, Kan., doesn't properly belong in any category of Main Street women. For her back yard contains 318 acres. The work for the farm loan association, and other work for the Big Island school board are casual tasks while the farm is literally the big job.

But Susie Gibbons, an orphan, who has certainly found success by either man's or woman's measuring tape, has accumulated opinions that Miss Town-Bred or Miss City-Corn may well ponder.

As to where a girl should seek success—"depends on what kind of backbone the girl has," Miss Gibbons says laconically. "The real question is whether the girl intends to make good, not the size of the town that happens to be her home."

And as to the qualities that have made for her own success—"keeping perpetually busy" is one part of the prescription. Getting along well with even for a farmer, though Miss Susie Gibbons isn't conceited enough to claim the credit due her. Instead she explains: "I have had my housekeeper fifteen years. She is an angel. My farm manager has been here seven years. My friends are veritable Gibbons. It seems to me the chief tribute they've paid me for is that I was the best dad on earth—has taken the form of watching my welfare."

But it's when she explains why she couldn't be hauled or coaxed or driven to life in the big city that Susie Gibbons truly waxes eloquent. "Well! I don't have to wake up in the morning and hear the pattering feet of the family above. No elevated trains—where humanity is packed in like stock in Western cattle cars. No iron-clad hour for lunch. No dictaphones (thank the good Lord). No coming out of an office at 5.30 to join in a mad homeward rush, with all the lovely day gone. No prisonlike existence within granite walls."

boys carrying candles; Seminary; sub-deacons; deacons; priests; Arch-priest and Celebrant, Rev. John J. Cura. The procession marched between two lines formed by members of the various societies of the church. The bride who marched with two flower girls on either side, was followed by two small boys who bore up her long court train. She presented the celebrant, with the wreath of flowers on the cushion at the offertory of the mass, an important feature. Rev. Joseph Kushner preached the sermon.

A banquet followed the mass in the basement room of the church at which time Rev. Joseph D. Straka of Dorota acted as toastmaster. Rev. Cura was presented with a purse containing $170 given by the societies by Rev. Kushner in a befitting address. Emma Tomasio and Ludmilla Goscinek presented bouquets to the celebrant. Misses Helen Grace and Rose Kondre rendered vocal solos, while Miss Helen Jababec lead the orchestra.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon benediction was said in the local church, following which the members of the congregation and lady journeyed to Fayette City, where they were served a supper in St. Edward's church and a musical program rendered.

Immediately after the services here, Rev. Cura left for Bitumen, Pa., a town in the Altoona Diocese where he will take charge as pastor of the Immaculate Conception church of that place.

Meaning of "Stone Age."

The term "Stone age" is commonly used to denote the earliest recognized stage in the development of human culture as defined by the materials used by man for weapons, utensils, etc. The phrase is somewhat misleading, since it is probable that primitive man made use of wood and other perishable materials to a far greater extent than of stone, and consequently the stage is defined by the pre-valuing material of the relics which have survived not by that of actual implements in common use.

When Autumn Begins.

Astronomically, autumn begins in the northern temperate zone at the autumnal equinox, about September 22, and ends at the winter solstice, December 21; but in popular language it comprises in America September, October and November; in England, August, September and October. Autumn in the southern hemisphere is at the same time as spring in the northern hemisphere.

When Chicago Was Settled.

In 1673, but the first house was not built until 1779, by Jean Baptiste Point de Saible. In 1796 he sold his claim to Le Mai, a French fur trader who in turn sold to John Kinzie, the first white man to make his home there. In 1803 Fort Dearborn was erected on the south bank of the river.

Tonkin Lace Industry

Has Grown Important

About 4,000 men, women and children of Tonkin, Indo-China, are now engaged in the manufacture of lace in that city, which is the lace-producing center of the country. The manufacture of lace in Indo-China was begun only 20 years ago, according to Consul L. L. Smith, who is at Soiso but a number of well known styles are produced there. Among them are craponna, cluny, Venice, Irish and fllet. The fllet laces are particularly popular in France, but the other kinds are not being produced so successfully. Thus far the natives have not been taught by the French to make Bruges or Valenciennes laces.

All the designs for the kinds of lace made in Tonkin are furnished by export houses, the natives having none of their own. The laces manufactured in the villages are either sold in the hotels and cafes or used locally. All the lace exported to France is made to order.

"It is difficult to determine the importance of the industry," Consul Smith reports to the Department of Commerce, "as the greater part of the exports are taken by tourists or sent out of the country by parcel post. However, the customs declare that the value of the lace sent out from Tonkin to France by steamer in 1922 amounted to 2,335,000 francs. It is estimated that the value of the lace ways amounted to an equal figure."

Too Much Dieting May
Curve a Girl's Spine

Young girls who are dieting for fear of getting fat are in danger of contracting curvature of the spine or some other deforming disease. Dr. John S. Mitchell, chief dietitian in charge of the experimental laboratories of the Battle Creek sanitarium, emphasizes the importance of teaching the people correct food values. The question of young women restricting their diet was called to his attention.

"Girls younger than twenty-five need have little fear of becoming too fleshy," she said. "What they need most is to select for themselves a well-balanced diet, one that will give them the proper amount of protein and minerals and the necessary vitamins. I doubt that the many cases of spinal curvature and other deformities of the skeleton in young girls are due to insufficiency of mineral matter in the food. Young girls should drink plenty of milk and eat an abundance of vegetables. They can easily select foods that bulk largely but that have low caloric content, if they show a tendency to take on undesirable weight. But in any event they need variety in diet."—Detroit News

on Jimson Weeds

J. M. Hiron, a resident of Kershaw, Lancaster, county, S. C., has had considerable success in grafting tomatoes on jimson weeds and growing a very hardy tomato, which is blight and drought proof. According to specimens exhibited the meat of this tomato to jimson fruit is firmer than the regular tomato.

Mr. Hiron plants his tomato seed according to custom, and when the plants get to the height of six or more inches he grafts branches to the jimson weed. A firm seedling tomato and a bush that resists drought and blight have been the dream of truckers. If his plan, which has worked very successfully on a small scale several seasons, can be enlarged to a commercial scale, the graft system may become a hobby with truck growers.

500,000 Miles of Cables

Submarine cables are expensive things to make and lay. The 500,000 miles of cable in all at the bottom of the sea representing $500,000,000, each line costing about $1,000 a mile. The average useful life of a cable nowadays is between thirty and forty years, according to conditions. Some 10,000,000 messages are conveyed by the world's cables in the course of a year, and under present conditions the working speed is up to 100 words a minute. About one-tenth of the cable messages are sent in code or cipher.

The Man of It

Roland dominated over his little sister and made her fetch and carry for him quite a lot. When she was going away for the entire winter with her aunt, Ronald started bawling "Way are you crying, dear?" asked his mother. "You are always fighting with Muriel and don't seem to love her."

"I don't love her," sobbed Ronald, "but I need her."—Doston Transcript.

Their Account Squared

The foreman was going from one man to another with a sheet of paper in his hand.

When he reached Sandy he said: "Sandy, this is a subscription to get a wreath for Jack Stuart, who died last week, and all your mates have been chipping each toward it."

"Och, mon," replied Sandy, "that'll make me an' Jack square, now. He owed me a bob, anyway."

Happy Thrift

Happy thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see advertised and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements, you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

Advertisements remove the blindfold from buying—read them carefully.

French Revolutionary Leader.
Georges Jacques Danton (1759-1794) was one of the leaders of the French Revolution and foremost in organizing and conducting the attack on the Tuileries, and bringing together with Robespierre, royalty to the scaffold. He afterward was condemned by the revolutionary tribunal as an accomplice in a conspiracy for the restoration of the monarchy and was executed.

Historic Herb House.
It is not widely known, except to the trade, that Madison, Ind., has the largest and perhaps the oldest herb house in the United States, which has existed since 1854. It collects from various parts of the country and distributes to many parts of the world approximately 160 varieties of leaves and roots known in the business as crude drugs.

MODEL AMBITION IS SHATTERED

Timothy Leuprecht, 22 years old, Swiss, representing himself to be an artist, was arrested in the Fyrt Pitt hotel Saturday while interviewing Miss Tillie Eber, 22 years old a stenographer and one of 57 girls who answered Leuprecht's advertisement inserted by him for models with physical measurements. In the room with the man was Miss Eber, who went there in good faith, and was surprised when hotel detectives broke into the apartment, placed Leuprecht under arrest and placed him under bond of $1,000 for a hearing this morning before Morals court in Pittsburgh. The girl was to appear against him as a material witness.

Leuprecht came to this country six months ago and was engaged on a farm near Monongahela. Later, he became a clerk in the employ of the Carnegie Steel company at Clairton. From this place he advertised for models. Miss Eber was one of the 57 answering the advertisement, and by appointment met Leuprecht in Pittsburgh. There her dreams of becoming a model were shattered by the arrest of the alleged artist.

It is said that Leuprecht served in the German army. The charge against him is that of being a suspicious person. Miss Eber is employed in the office of a Pittsburgh attorney, and it is said that there were two reasons why she applied for a job as a model, one was the recompense, and the other, on the advice of a friend that she answered the requirements of a certain model as to physical proportions, she could make a living easier in this capacity than that of being a shorthand.

A young Scotch sentry was put on sentry-go outside the general's tent. In the morning the general rose, looked out of his tent, and said in a stern and loud voice: "Who are you?" The young man turned round smartly and replied: "Tune, sir! Hoo's yersel?"

Efficiency of the light of the firefly may be judged, says Nature Magazine, from the fact that the efficiency of a carbon incandescent lamp is 0.0042, of a tungsten bulb 0.013, of an open arc 0.072, of a quartz-mercury arc 0.055, and of the firefly 0.96.

"PIED PIPER MALONE" HERE

Thomas Meghan and his company of Paramount players, who went to Georgetown S. C. to film evergreen scenes for "Pied Piper Malone," an old story by Booth Tarkington, discovered that influenza was not a new disease that people thought it was a few years ago, when the influenza epidemics wrought havoc in this country. In the Georgetown center, Tom Geraghty, who wrote the scenario for the picture—only a scenario writer would go to a cemetery for recreation—discovered on a tombstone that in 1803 a citizen of Georgetown died of influenza.

Lois Wilson is girl in "Pied Piper," which comes to the Coyle today, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. George Fawcett is also in the cast.

Through permission of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the courtesy of Mr. Coyle a local club is also exhibiting in one reel "Home Sweet Home."

Great Sea Waves.
Waves of extraordinary height, mis-called "tidal waves," are sometimes encountered at sea or along the coasts.
They are due either to earthquakes under the sea, or to a combination of several ordinary waves, which, if a heavy sea be running, is sufficient to account for a wave of unusual height.
Such a one was recently encountered by the British steamship Maine near the southern edge of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. The wind was rising after a hard blow and an ugly swell, about twenty-five feet high, was running. Then a huge wave was seen towering above the other seas a mile away and rushing toward the ship. It swept the vessel from end to end and was estimated by the officers to have been from 50 to 60 feet in height.

There's a Reason.

Jones was walking along the street wearing a very glum expression on his usually cheerful countenance when he was accosted by his friend Brown.
"Hello, old man," exclaimed the latter. "You're looking very down in the mouth."
"Yesterday," said Jones, "I refused a poor woman a request for a loan and in consequence of my act I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her voice were ringing in my ears the whole evening."
"Your softness of heart does you credit," said Brown. "Who was the woman?"
"My wife," was the sad reply.

360 QUARTS LIQUOR FOUND

One of three men from the city of Detroit made a fatal remark when he offered $50 for his release. The accused were being arraigned on a charge of exceeding the speed limit. The remark caused the automobile in which they were riding to be more closely examined, and it was found to contain 360 quarts of alcoholic beverages, inclusive of whiskey, champagne, and gin. The men gave their names as Samuel Robinson, R. G. Bailey, and Marion Foster. The liquor had been secreted in a separate or special compartment built into the car.

NONE ARE HURT MACHINE WRECK

While they were taking two prisoners to a murder inquest at Donora Saturday, the car in which District Attorney Howard W. Hughes and Chief of County Detectives W. B. Dinsmore were riding, was wrecked on the Van Voorhis hill, on the National highway, east of Scenery Hill. No one was injured. The accident, which was due to the heavy ice on the road at that point, was caused by two machines crashing into the machine in which the officers were riding. The offending cars were unable to stop on account of the ice. The drivers and occupants of these two machines were placed under arrest and taken to Washington. The accident occurred about 10 a. m.

District Attorney Hughes and Detective Dinsmore left Washington Saturday in a Reo Sedan owned and driven by Eugene Thompson, taking Pete Dujak and John Turpak, the two young men who are being held in connection with the killing of George Rebeck at Donora on February 6, to the inquest, which was set for Saturday at Donora. The ice on the Van Voorhis hill was very thick. The wheels of machines had worn two ruts in the center of the road. In going up the hill it is impossible for a car to turn out of these ruts. When about half way, a West Virginia machine appeared around the curve ahead, and before it could be stopped on the ice, it had skidded into the Thompson car. The only damage appeared to be a punctured tire and a hub cap knocked off. The West Virginia car, a Ford car, had a fender bent.

Mr. Hughes went to the top of the hill to flag other machines, while the Thompson car was dragged to the side of the road. The Ford was pulled out of the rut. Another machine, a closed Reo, suddenly came in sight, and before the driver could stop it on the ice, it too had crashed into the Thompson machine, causing more damage.

The Ford is owned by A. Medina, of Clarkburg, W. Va. In the car with him was A. W. Hartman, of the same place. After the wreck this machine went on to Washington, where it was intercepted by Constable George

In Society's Realm

The members of the Zananna Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a covered dish social in the Sunday school room of the church tomorrow evening. A good attendance is desired.

Thomas Purks left today for Pittsburgh, where he will attend the concert tonight given by Vladimir De-Pachman, the noted pianist, who is making his farewell tour of the United States.

Mrs. Harry Scott and Mrs. William Foulks will entertain the members of the Home and Hospital club at the latter's home in Fourth street tomorrow evening. A number of business matters of importance will be discussed at that time and a good attendance is urged.

The Vestrymen of St. Mary's Episcopal church will hold their regular business meeting tomorrow night in the Board of Health office of the Borough building instead of at the church. This evening at the same place, the Executive committee of the newly organized club, the Men's Social Union, will meet to make definite plans and appoint various committees.

John Chesmar was delightfully surprised Saturday evening, when about 30 of his friends called at his home to celebrate his birthday anniversary. Dancing was the main feature of the party and everyone present enjoyed the evening. The home was beautifully decorated in National colors. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Chesmar, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Partus and Mrs. Howard Libengood. Out of town guests were present from Warner, Donora and Monessen.

The members of the Steubenville, Ohio, basketball team, composed of the following young ladies: Misses Anderson, Dunn, McLeish, York, Taylor and Rarey, were entertained at the home of Mrs. William McBride of Crest avenue, Saturday evening. The young ladies were the guests of William, Paul and Mildred McBride, and they spent an enjoyable evening in music, dancing and games. Twelve guests were present. At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh.

WRZOS IS POLISH FOR ROSES

But Capital Newspaper Man Thought It Was Flower Peculiar to Poland.

There is at least one newspaper man in Washington who will not forget again soon that a rose is just as sweet under any other name; but he will have to live down the circumstances attending his tardy recognition of that fact.

When General Haller, the Polish military hero, visited the White House he announced he was going to place a wreath at the base of the statue of Kosciuszko, the Polish patriot, whose statue stands at one of the corners of Lafayette square. Asked what kind of wreath, General Haller replied it would be a wreath of Wrzos. Whereupon the newspaper man, indulging in language somewhat too flowery, wrote that the Wrzos was peculiar to the soil of Poland as the heather is to that of Scotland.

When the wreath appeared it was of pink rosebuds, peculiar to the soil of hothouses around the national capital. Wrzos is Polish for the rose.

Mosely, and the occupants held. The Reo is owned and was driven by D. W. Danley of Silver Spring, Md. In the car were his wife and daughter. They were on their way to Chicago. They were also held and taken to Washington by J. T. Haney, of the state highway patrol. All were taken before Alderman J. P. Carmichael. However, the matter was settled among all parties concerned.

District Attorney Hughes and Mr. Thompson returned to Washington in the Reo car, leaving Detective Dinsmore with the two prisoners at the scene of the accident. Mr. Hughes secured another machine immediately and returned, picking up Mr. Dinsmore and the prisoners and going on to Donora.

A New Vision of Hope

To the family, life looked barren and cold. Widow and youngsters—who would guide them? Then, when the will was read, the wise foresight of a loving husband and father was seen. Monthly while he lived he had set aside a sum to build up a living trust. And at death, he had made sure all his assets would be safeguarded, by naming this Institution as his executor. Will your dependents, too, be freed of care and money worries? We'll gladly tell you how it can be done.
